

A Treatise on the Science of Trade, as Applied to Legislation

By George Baring Kemp

Theclassics.us, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 246 x 189 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1844 edition. Excerpt: . CHAPTER VIII. HOME COMPETITION. The intense competition under which this country is now suffering is as unparalleled in the history of the world, as is the enormous extent and minute ramifications of its commerce. It may not, therefore, be out of place to enter briefly upon the consideration of the causes that have led to this great activity of trade, in order that we may arrive at the causes of the competition that seems to accompany it. In treating of money prices, we had occasion to allude to the effects of a war when carried on in a foreign country, and particularly when accompanied by the custom of subsidizing foreign powers. We have seen that it was impossible that the immense sums then expended should be exported in specie, and that even, if they were so exported, it would immediately become necessary to...

READ ONLINE

[3.99 MB]

Reviews

Extensive information for book fans. It is written in basic words and never hard to understand. It is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding, once you begin to read the book.

-- Otis Wisoky

This publication is great. It is full of wisdom and knowledge. You will not really feel monotony at any time of the time (that's what catalogs are for relating to when you ask me).

-- Dr. Everett Dicki DDS