The score on the Stanford test is fair evidence of this ability, and in cases of doubt the achievement on particular oral problems in that examination were studied. 4. Correlations Between Vocabulary, Reading And Other Tests In The Higher Grades In order to discover whether the relations between the various vocabulary and reading tests found among pupils just beginning to read are similar to those among pupils whose reading habits are fairly well established, the correlations shown in Table XX were computed. TABLE XX Correlations Between Variables As Indicated By Headings. N 40 Pupils Of Grades VII And VIII The correlation between the two visual vocabulary tests (0. 82) is the same as that found in the lower grades (See Table XIX). The correlations between the visual vocabulary tests and reading are lower in the upper grades; about 0. 54 as compared to 0. 65 for the Burgess, and 0. 46 as compared to 0. 68 for the Thorndike-McCall. Correlations of vocabulary tests with spelling are slightly less than 0. 5 for both groups. Correlations of the vocabulary tests with spelling, ability to detect small differences between pairs of words, and proof-reading, are also included in Table XX to show the substantial correlations that obtain between this wide variety of abilities in dealing with verbal material. 5. Summary The main conclusions from this section are: 1. The Thorndike-McCall Reading Scale measures power of comprehension relatively freed of the mechanical factors involved in reading. Other reading tests...
