Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Papers From the Department of Forest Entomology, Vol. 5 of 22 For the purpose of this study it is proposed to use an ecological grouping based on the primitive forest conditions or forest cover of the region with particular recognition of the modification caused by the lumbering or cutting of the large conifers and part of the hardwoods, and the subsequent burning of certain cut-over tracts. These factors have operated to produce a very different combination of organisms, in part because of the different plant associations which have formed a succession for the forest cover, but largely owing to the evident killing out of certain members of the original fauna. The latter is probably due to the disappearance of the food plants concerned or in some cases no doubt to the actual elimination of the species in certain areas occasioned by the destruction of the vegetation and duff through fire. While the boundaries of the groups are not in all cases well defined, and as each may carry a varied flora aside from the dominant...
