Createspace, United States, 2014. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .THE object of the following pages is to give in a brief space an outline of the grounds of the Catholic religion. The argument presupposes three things: (1) Belief in the existence of God, the Creator of the universe and of man; (2) the spirituality of the human soul; and (3) the validity of the processes of human reason. The first two can be proved (see Bibliography at the end), although considerations of space forbid their treatment here; the third is not capable of proof, for any proof must assume and involve the conclusion. A word now as to the line followed in our treatment of the subject. The reader will not find in this book any consideration or proof of Catholic doctrines as such: the whole argument is, on the contrary, limited to the establishment, step by step, of the Church's claim to be the Religious Teacher of Mankind. Obviously, if once we prove that she is worthy of our confidence, we shall naturally be prepared to accept the doctrines she teaches. Inquirers very often begin by demanding some sort of demonstrative or intrinsic proof of a particular doctrine which they find difficult to believe; but in many cases it is impossible to give any such proof, and foolish to expect it. These doctrines do not admit of demonstration, because of their subject-matter. They are truths which are clearly seen and understood only by Almighty God and the Blessed in heaven. There these doctrines have their own intrinsic evidence; but here it is not so, for we see now through a glass in a dark manner, but then face to face. So far as the actual...
